Writing. (D).

Hello Sam,

How are you feeling lately? I'm a little upset because of something and I think I must tell you about everything, like why am I feeling upset.

Do you remember that I borrowed your book for a history project? So... I damaged its cover by accident. I was reading and drinking a cup of tea at the same time and when I turned left to grab something from my shelf that cup of tea spilled out on your book and after that the cover became brown.

I'm really sorry for that situation. It just keeps me sad. Everytime I take a look on the book I feel so bad, because you thought that I'm going to keep it safe when you gave your book to me. I'm so sorry for damaging your precious book. I don't what to do...

My sister suggested me to buy you a new book. I will order a book just like yours, even with the same cover and will give it to you on Monday at school. Besides the book, I can buy you everything you'd like to buy, just tell me and I'll get you. And sorry again for being too inaccurate, my friend!

Ainisa, your classmate.

E) Your school magazine is doing a feature on strange habits students have before exams.

Mello Everyone, my name is Alfira and today I want to tell you <sup>about</sup> my unusual habit I have before exams. We all know that the exams are really important and preparing for them might be a bit stressful. However, something really helps me before exams and finals. In my opinion, I am very nervous kind of person and easily get overstimulated, so it is very important to me to relax and try not to get irritated. ~~so always~~ That is why before exams I always prioritize my sleep at the first place. Having enough bed time helps me to forget about all worries and remember everything that I have learned. By the way, learning and studying before going to bed actually helps keep in mind more information. ~~This is what~~ That is what I always do before exams since grade 7. and in 90% of situations I always pass my finals and tests. Whenever I go to do my olimpiad or summative assessments, everyone asks me why am I so chill and not worried at all, I tell them about my "secret". All though, I always give advices to my younger siblings and cousins, and if you all were my cousins, I would tell please, prioritize your peace and dont let anyone or anything ruin it. It is very important not to crush out easily. Even though the exams might seem very hard, nothing can really decide your future but you. However, you should take exams seriously, because it still got very big impact in your life. Never get distracted by something either unhealthy or illegal. Always listen to your heart and follow your dreams. Everyone been there, and everybody is here to help you.

When I opened the classroom door, everyone stopped talking. I was surprised to see that my new class was filled with boys. Recently, I received a job offer from school near my house. I needed to be mentor for senior year class. Then, it turned out that my class was unusual. Not only ~~was~~ that class ~~was~~ full with boys, but that class also were known for their not really brilliant attitude and ~~was~~ horrible academic performance. It was difficult to control them in the beginning. Hardly do they listen to me. However I did my best to understand them, gave them a lot of ~~all~~ attention. I even once invited them to hang out after school. Surprisingly, they all agreed. Seeing how tired I looked, they started showing more empathy to me. Weeks passed by, and I really could notice that they were improving. I guided them, gave them some of my advice and tips. They started opening up to me and moreover we became close. I started feeling welcome and included among this class. They weren't "worst class" now, they were just 12th. I learned that by taking responsibility and having a simple ~~conver~~ conversation with them I can influence their character. I also learnt a lot of new views from them. I really value ~~that~~ this experience and my class.

Writing. E)

It is widely acknowledged that every person has strange habits, in particular, students before exams. Many of them wonder if it is really helpful or just a peculiar habit. What do you think?

Exams is a crucial part of students life that they find stressful. In order to reduce anxiety they have strange habits. To talk about me, I can not deny having a strange habit either. Before exams I put off all ~~the~~ my plans and just relax. Instead of studying endlessly, I try to have a rest and do activities that I am fond of. For instance, last year I had an important exam in the end of semester. It played pivotal role to my grades. However, instead of reviewing, I spent time with my siblings and recharged my batteries by listening to music. Of course I prepared for this exam but I did all of these activities to reduce my anxiety level. To be honest, most people find it strange and think as a waste of time. Nonetheless, for me it is a little strange habit ~~that~~ that is useful for me. And this works on other people as well. Everyone has habits like this that helps them remain calm and even confident in yourselves before exams. Many people wonder whether it really works, and I definitely can say yes! Because I got 28/30 in that exam. If I hadn't done my strange habit, I would have been stressed and even failed that test. That's why I firmly believe that these strange habits before exams work. It is no secret that ~~it helps to students~~ students can decrease their fear and anxiety before exams with these habits.

Even if some people can take this with a pinch of salt, it is useful, isn't it? My experience prove that point. I would recommend other students not to stress. Pressure from school and exams is overwhelming and stress can worsen it. That's why remain calm and not forgetting about your favourite activities is a key.

Taking everything into consideration, many students have strange habits before exams to decrease anxiety under pressure and upcoming tests. Nevertheless, it can not be denied that it is helpful. I advise students not to panic and have a rest before exams. As he saying goes, "where's a will, there is a way", so believing in yourself is vital and that's why these strange habits are so helpful.

IV Writing: A) The most useful skill of today.

In 20th century, majority of people claim that in order to keep up with the technological progress they are ought to learn how to create or work with new gadgets. However, the most important skill of our days is attention.

Technologies that were built to help us are slowly starting to become our distraction. Social media, short videos and games are all made to entertain people, while actually they ruin our attention span, making it more difficult to focus on a single task. Therefore, in order to learn a new skill teenagers must teach themselves how to concentrate.

I had this problem in 9th grade. I used to watch tiktok too much, and could not pay full attention to classes and homework, which resulted ~~ix~~ with my grades falling. Then I decided to cut down on short videos and do some exercises for better focus. Now, I do not feel any addiction to social media and I can easily learn not only school subjects but other skills too.

As a conclusion, I can describe the ability to focus as a light you have to turn on, so you can see and learn other skills in the room.

IV Writing

Hello, I am Aziza and study at 10th grade. I would like to share an object I use every day. Everybody has a favourite and important thing which they apply every time. Of course, I have too. It is a smartphone. A smartphone becomes a vital part of our life. From children to old people know how to use it and do it every single day. I think it is impossible to live without this thing in modern life. Because we eat, chat, watch and do several things thanks for phones. For example, when I wake up, the first thing I do is checking notifications on my social media. Then I play music and continue doing my daily routines. Sometimes I watch some videos on Youtube during the meal. I find it interesting to spend time.

Actually, I notice the effect of the phone and see the advantages or disadvantages. If I should say the benefits, I would complete that phone helps connecting with people in far. Despite the distance, you can chat or call. Also, you are able to spend time exciting. Study or know something with smartphone; watching interesting videos, do online lessons or probably play online games.

But the main disadvantage is being addicted to. When we use it every moment, we forget about real life and can not interrupt yourself from social media. Moreover, we have to care about our health. Being in connect with smartphone is good, but not allowing specific rules using for long time, sitting on one position like a rock can destroy us. So phone is enemy, which we can not miss.

In the end, I would ask to use this object correctly, like to apply for own necessities. I understand all situations or conditions, but I recommend to try not be addicted and take care about yourself. Phone is all which consists good & bad things.

Hi Jane,

Ғатысушының шешімдерін толтыруға арналған өріс / Поле для заполнения решений участника Парақ / Страница № 2

I hope you are doing well. Yes, you are right, I took part at this kind of project and I recommend you to sign up too. This would be a great experience for you.

At the beginning, I also was nervous about staying with a host family, until I met them. They were so kind to me, we have spent lots of time together. When I told them about this event at school, they started helping me with preparing foods, my speech, decorating my place. When I arrived to the school, I saw many students from different countries, who were representing their culture to each other. They showed their national costumes, foods, games and people who organized everything did their work well, because they organized for us so many games and competitions. I had so much fun.

I had learned more information about many countries. Despite of this, I found many friends and it helped me to improve my socialising skills.

I hope that you will join to this project and I will be waiting for your reply.

Your faithfully,

Dilnaz

Writing IV C).

I had never expected the school trip to end like this. It happened a week ago, when our teacher said that we are going to hang out with our class in another city. Everyone were so happy and fascinated by this idea.

On the next day, all of us were sitting at the trip bus and everything seemed alright. However, after few hours, our teacher told that one of our classmates got lost! He is really quite and introverted boy without any friends, so no one knew where he was. Our teacher was in panic. After some time, it turned out, that we forgot him on our stop near the city. When we finally found him, he was doing hot dogs at one cafe. In 6 hours he managed to find a job in another city! I still guess, how could he?

Wow, he has several friends, but this story is shocking! I was amazed by his capability of adaptation to ~~hard~~ situations and communication. Who could think that quite boy like him could find a job just in 6 hours in city he does not even know? This

The most useful skill for a teen.

Have you ever experienced finding out that something that you have been believing in turns out to be completely wrong? I ~~guess~~ bet ~~(all of us had a moments like)~~ answer is positive for all of us.

Especially in this era of globalisation, where attention, time and information are the most valuable resources, it's clear that ability to think critically ~~is~~ is crucial. That is why media-literacy is the most useful skill for a teenager nowadays. Media-literacy is an ability to take in any information from social media with a grain of salt.

And you might be wondering: why is it so important?

Well, it's not a secret that every single teenager uses social media platforms on a daily basis. (Social media) These platforms such as TikTok, Instagram are the exact places where pseudo-enlighteners thrive. Bloggers of this kind often misinterpret facts to their own use. Thus, a young person, whose brain is not fully developed yet can easily fall into the trap of propaganda.

Seeking the truth in a world full of lies is the key for <sup>an</sup> youngster's development and

To give an example, I was also one of many victims of media-propaganda believing by heart in ~~(so many)~~ any take or assumption that I would hear. But ~~is~~ suddenly the moment of realization hit me after reading a book on how to maintain critical thinking.

To sum up, I give my honest advice to consider ~~to~~ obtaining this media-literacy skill to all of you.

Writing. Topic E: It is important that people choose a career when they are still quite young. Career choice must be the most anxious and pivotal decision one could ever make in his/her life. There is a saying that states "the earlier you choose it, the easier your life will be." This essay will discuss why we must try to choose our occupation field as early as possible.

To begin with, the "hiring market" is rapidly becoming too competitive. Employers tend to favour candidates with major commercial experience more than those with fancy degrees or dry "motivation". The rhetoric is simple: if you are certain about your career, you will have way more time to gain valuable qualifications and experiences. Therefore, you are significantly improving your chances to secure a decent position upon graduation.

Nonetheless, the decision timing also affects individual's school life. As proven by recent studies, dopamine, a hormone of motivation - negatively correlates with the person's uncertainty of the future. Those with ~~the~~ established career preferences demonstrate more willing to take risks, work harder, and enjoy everyday interactions more than ones having not yet decided who they are wanting to become. So, being aware and totally sure about your profession means being more disciplined and motivated.

Generally speaking, choosing your job remains very difficult. That being said, with the right approach, coherent career choice at early ages gives invaluable benefits in adolescence. Therefore, it is highly recommended not to leave this decision for any later.

Writing

E) It is considered essential to decide on your career in early age. I strongly agree with that point, for the reasons that it saves you a lot of time in the future and gives opportunity to develop fastly in ~~the~~ your field.

First and foremost, choosing your future career path is significantly important decision which takes a long decision making time. Therefore, ~~the~~ deciding about your future profession as a child or adolescent ~~the~~ gives you a plenty of time for researches and consideration. Because, as we know when you are young you have ~~less things to do~~ a lot of free time and less things to do, rather than when you are a fully grown-up.

Secondly, It also enables you to develop faster and better in your profession. In order to get into prestigious university, you must provide them an outstanding portfolio. So, It means that you have to start working on your portfolio from early age.

But, you can do that only if you have already decided on your future career during school time. ~~(Furthermore)~~ Unless you will need to take a gap year to fully prepare for your admission to university. However, it might feel like you are just wasting your one year, because you could have done it earlier, when you were younger. For example, to enter university and receive degree in architecture you must have a portfolio with lots of your works.

In conclusion, it is necessary for individuals to choose their future career path in early age. It will provide them best education opportunities and help not to waste their valuable time.
